

The 34th Annual MACUL Conference

Join us for one of the Midwest's largest educational technology conferences, attracting thousands of educators with millions of dollars worth of buying power* from across Michigan, surrounding states and Canada.

The conference is attended by teachers, technology coordinators, media specialists, building principals, central office administrators, superintendents, and school board members.

 Contact the MACUL office for demographic and purchasing power statistics.*

Stand above the competition

Nearly 200 companies exhibited at the 2009 MACUL conference. Conference sponsors stood above the crowd as attendees clearly recognized their support to make the MACUL conference more affordable. In addition to prominent recognition during the three day conference, sponsors receive several pre- and post-event opportunities to reach out to their customers.

Check out the new benefits...

that will provide sponsors with even more opportunities to promote their companies to buyers of educational technology products.
